REPUBLIC SPECIAL. New York, July 29 - Edgar Stanton Mac-Lay, author of the history of the American Navy, statements in which were instrumental in bringing about the Admiral Schley naval inquiry, was asked to-day about a charge made by a Brooklyn citizen that he was guilty of plagiarism. He said: "There is absolutely nothing in this statement. The man accuses me of borrowing from an article in the Edinburgh Review without giving that publication credit. It is not true, I do mention it in my book and credit is given wherever it is due.

MacLay's Official Position. Speaking of his place in the receiver's department of the General Storekeeper at the Navy Yard, the author said: "It is true that my salary is only $2.48 a day, but I had a better job and left it on purpose for this one, so as to be within reach of the efficers of the navy. I was connected with the Long Island Lighthouse near Port Jefferson. It is a life position, yet I asked to be transferred to my pres-ent office, after I had stayed five years there and written my book. It is so quiet and comfortable to work in the light-

SCHLEY ON THE INQUIRY.

Rear Admiral Takes Exception to One of the Precepts.

Washington, July 29.—Rear Admiral Schley has formally acknowledged the recelpt of the precept appointing a Court of Inquiry to investigate his conduct during the Santiago campaign.

The precept is generally satisfactory, with the exception of the fifth specification, which directs the court to inquire into:

The circomstances attending and the reasons for the disobedience by Commodore Schley of the orders of the department contained in its dispatch dated May 15, 1898, and the propriety of his conduct in the premises. of his conduct in the premises.

Admiral Schley contends that he is not guilty of disobedience of orders. In the preparation of the specification to which exception is taken the department took into consideration Admiral Schley's cablegram dated May 28, stating: "Much to be regretted, cannot obey orders of department." It is contended in behalf of Admiral Schley that "cannot obey orders" is very different from "disobedience of orders." The weather conditions were such when he first arrived off Santiago as to make it impossible to coal any of the ships of his squadron. In the same dispatch Admiral Schley stated: "Have striven earnestly; forced to proceed for coal to Key West,"

Joseph H. Boyd, Broken in Health and Fortune, in Constant Need of the dutcome of the meeting of the conferees. Medical Attention-Declares He Has Floated Bonds for Large Amounts Through John H. McCail, J. Pierpont Morgan and Others.

Joseph H. Beyd of Denver, Colo., 80 years old, who says that he has been assocated with John H. McCall, J. Plerpont Morgan and other New York capitalists in floating Western mining and realty securities, is a patient at the City Hospital. He says that his health and fortune are gone, and that he must, henceforth, live where he can constantly have medical attention.

He states that he has lived in Denver for eighteen years, and that in this time he has disposed of Denver securities aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars. Four years ago, he says, he placed in New York a loan of $200,000 on the Tabor Operahouse of Denver, and it was through John H. McCall that the bonds were floated. He came to St. Louis three weeks ago and has been rooming at No. 1618 Washington avenue. He says that his mission in this city was to float securities, and that he was authorized to dispose of bonds amounting to large sums. Boyd says he has no relatives in this city, but that a son, J. F. Boyd, is a traveling salesman in the employ of the Sickles Sad-

PRICE OF CORN BREAKS, STAMPEDING THE BULLS.

There Is a Rush to Unload-Holders Dump Their Corn at Any Price-Phillips Is Still a Bull, So He Says.

Rains Cause a Selling Panic and

REPUBLIC SPECIALA Chicago, Ill., July 29.—The break in the Western drought caused a selling panic in corn on the Board of Trade to-day and the price of that cereal broke 3 cents a bushel, as compared with the close on Saturday. ## CLOUDS AND THUNDERSTORMS PREDICTED FOR ST. LOUIS.

Heavy Rain Is Needed, Says Forecaster Hyatt, to Reduce the Temperature Sufficiently to Make the Humidity That Will Follow Showers Endurable-Slight Rainfall Noticed Yesterday.

BY R. J. HYATT, Local Forecast Official.

I think it will only be a matter of a few hours before we will have a good rain. Indications are for rather cloudy weather in St. Louis and vicinity, with strong promise for good thunderstorms. We need this rain. But, when it comes, look out for humidity. If the temperature does not drop many points—and there is no indication that it will—and we get a good rain, unless it is a soaker, we may as well be ready to suffer. ## MOTHER LOSES BRAVE RACE FOR HER CHILD'S LIFE

Little One Dies in Her Arms on the Way to City Hospital-Parents, Unable to Obtain Burial Certificate From Physicians, Appeal to Coroner, Who Will Hold Inquest To-Day.

Lily Schmidt ran from her home at 908 reposed in the single room occupied by North Eighteenth street to the City Hospital, through the fierce heat of last Saturday, with her stricken babe hugged desperately to her breast.

The heroic mother fell exhausted at the gates of the institution where she had hoped to find relief for her dying child. Tender hands lifted the moaning woman from the scorching pavement and removed the little form from the arms that unwillingly released their lifeless burden.

A tiny coffin, with "Our Darling" on the cover, was carried to the morgue yesterday afternoon from the room of Peter and Lilly Schmidt. It held the body of Peter Schmidt 26 months old, dressed in a frock of white with red polka dots. Coroner Funkhouser has decided to hold an inquest to determine the cause of the child's death, which is sur-rounded by unusual circumstances.

Death won the brave race which Mrs. Since the day of death, the little body has Schmidt and his wife and their two older children. Physicians who attended the child in his fatal illness have refused to issue a burial certificate, and Undertaker Wenglermuchle of No. 201 Soulard street has been unable to bury the body. Peter Schmidt called at the Coroner's office yesterday and said that his baby had been last prescribed for by a tenant of the house where he lives. He said that when the infant was first laid low by the excessive heat of last week, they summoned Doctor A. E. Everitt of No. 1532 Franklin avenue. Afterwards another physician on Franklin avenue was called. The babe still pined. Then medicine was used which he says was furnished by the neighbor.

This compound, he said, contained prickly ash, boneset, wahoo, dandelion, mandrake, wild cherry bark, turkey rhubarb, yellow

HORSES NOT AFFECTED HERE.

Influenza Epidemic Has Broken Out in Chicago.

Horse owners of St. Louis have been discussing the ravages of the grip among horses. The disease started in the East and is said to be traveling westward in the form of an epidemic. It has broken out among horses in Chicago, but so iar as known there are no indications that the disease has as yet obtained a foothold here.

Doctor H. F. James, veterinary surgeon, of No. 3687 Laclede avenue, said last night that St. Louis horses so far have escaped the

No. 3687 Laclede avenue, said last night that St. Louis horses so far have escaped the influenza and that he knows of no cases among them.

"Pinkeye has prevailed among the St. Louis horses for nearly three years without intermission." said Doctor James, "but there have been few fatalities. I have heard that Chicago and New York horses are suffering from the grip, but the weather conditions in St. Louis have been such that our horses have escaped it. I fear no such epidemic at this time."

A special dispatch to The Republic from Cairo, Ill., says: "Grip, that afflicts nearly two-thirds of the horses in Chicago, has attacked the animals in the police and fire departments. The malady threatens to seriously impair the efficiency of both departments, for almost half the 750 horses needed daily in the service are suffering. The chief symptoms of the disease are a high and intermittent fever, with a dry cough. The glands in the horse's throat swell until the afflicted animal is hardly able to breathe. The horse becomes weak, and can barely stand on its legs.

breathe. The horse becomes weak, and can barely stand on its legs.

"There are 503 horses in the Fire Department, and a dozen are now at the veterinary hospital. There is hardly a fire station in the city that has not felt the effects of the disease. Doctor Adam Barber, chief veterinarian of the Police Department, says that the only relief is to give the horses plenty of rest and to bathe their throats with pectoral remedies.

"While the disease seems to be decidedly contagious, so far as horsefiesh is concerned, there is said to be no danger from it to the human family."

"I have been a great sufferer from chronic disease and dyspepsia for five years. How I suffered no tongue can tell. I tried eight or ten of the best physicians without receiving much benefit, also tried lots of patent medicines. But still I suffered with sick headache, cold feet and hands, palpitation of the heart, and such a heavy feeling in my stomach and chest. At times I would be so nervous I could not bear anyone around me. I had been given up to die.

"One day a friend sent me one of Dr.

When all was ready Ben Heyler placed his hand in an aperture in the El Reno wheel, and, withdrawing an envelope, handed it to Colonel D. P. Dyer of St. Louis. The Commissioner walked to the front of the platform, raised his hand for order, and in a loud tone exclaimed; "Stephen A. Holcomb of Paul's Valley, L.

T., draws the first number."
The crowd yelled for three minutes, aphad drawn a prize. Envelope No. 2 was quickly drawn forth, and Colonel Dyer again announced: "Leon-

Drawers of Lucky Numbers Must Become Bona Fide Settlers.

Washington, July 29 .- Secretary Hitchcock the injunction proceedings brought in the Federal Court by Lone Wolf and other Klowas to delay the opening of the reservation, has been decided by Judge Erwin in favor of the Government. This is the last recourse of the Kiowas, and nothing remains to prevent the settlement of the lands. Referring to a published story that certain indigent Indians have rights, under old statutes, to enter these lands regardless of the Government's arrangements for drawings, Secretary Hitchcock said that there is no truth in the statement. Claims of this o-day received reports from El Reno that "The lands are for actual homestead entry only," he said. "The party trying to dispose of them in speculation will find himself in the meshes of the law, and any person buying such claims is merely throwing away his money. Every one should be warned against attempting to make a deal of this kind. The records kept by the Government will be perfect, and the identification of the actual allottees will be complete.
